Crafting Safe Toys, Empowering Women: A Path to Economic Independence

Light of Hope has trained 150 women artisans, enabling them to earn a livelihood by producing safe, handmade children's toys. These artisans craft toys for the renowned Goofi brand, which engages them in manufacturing and ensures a steady income. The toys are then purchased from the women's collective, packaged, and distributed nationwide, creating sustainable employment opportunities. This initiative empowers women by equipping them with essential skills while ensuring a continuous supply of high-quality, handcrafted toys for future generations.

Kids Time Fair: Bangladesh's Biggest Stage for Young Creativity!

Kids Time Fair 2025 held on January 24 to 26 at the Bangladesh Shishu Academy aims to showcase the inner talents of children through a variety of engaging activities.

The Kids Time Fair brought together 27,000 children and parents for three days of creativity, learning, and fun! With puppet shows, magic performances, and hands-on games focused on nutrition and safe food, the event was a vibrant celebration.

Brands like Grameen Danone Shokti, ToguMogu, Polar, Dettol, Chopstick, PaperFly, and Goofi supported the fair, making it a grand success. Notable figures such as Ayman Sadiq, Umme Maisun, and Shuvasish Bhowmick led insightful parenting sessions. Exciting zones, including the Creative Zone for arts and crafts and the Healthy Zone with interactive activities, kept kids engaged. Designed for both children and parents, the event highlighted education, health, and well-being in a fun and dynamic way.

Light of Hope and Lily Charities Partner to Establish 150 School Libraries

Lily Charities and Light of Hope partnered to 150 school libraries in 2025. The partnership began last year with a pilot of 16 school libraries in Dhaka. This partnership aligns with the mission of Light of Hope's Porua project which began in 2016 and established over 650 school libraries across Bangladesh.

The goal is to set 100,000 school libraries covering all the educational institutes in Bangladesh with special focus on underprivileged schools to foster reading and leadership.

This is a continuous commitment from Light of Hope to invest in children's education for a brighter future.

Teachers Time & Save the Children Foster Language Skills

Save the Children Bangladesh and Teachers Time have launched an English Language Training Program to support educators in Cox's Bazar, especially those working in the Rohingya camp area. This initiative helps Host Teachers and Master Trainers improve their English skills, making it easier for them to teach, communicate with stakeholders, and grow professionally.

The program has selected 250 educators from different organizations, ensuring they receive structured training to navigate the challenges of teaching in humanitarian settings.

Many of these educators have limited experience with digital learning.

50+ Media Outlets Recognized Our Work and Impact!

Light of Hope's initiatives have garnered widespread recognition, securing coverage in over 50 leading media outlets across Bangladesh. This extensive media presence highlights the organization's commitment to transforming education and empowering communities. With national visibility, Light of Hope continues to inspire change and drive meaningful impact.
